

Clearly it is WRONG for Sinclair Broadcasting Group to force the stations it owns to air the program "Stolen Honor: Wounds that Never Heal" as NEWS during the last weeks of a presidential campaign. This should not be tolerated and I believe it is a clear example of how broadcast TV is NOT serving my community. This is just another attempt by those in power to keep and consolidate their power. Big media companies do not help our local communities and the people that live in them, they simply want to make their bottom lines as good as possible for their owners. I'm voting with my remote control on this issue - I've contacted Sinclair Broadcasting Group and WGME in Portland, ME to let them know that I will no longer watch WGME. This country can and should be able to do better than that, but it's up to you at the FCC this time.
Sincerely, Brian Peters, Yarmouth, ME
